UP Lantern Parade: One like no other

By Ben B. Santos

MANILA, Philippines — The University of the Philippines (UP) Lantern Parade, a tradition that has been held since 1946, is a unique event that is not only a celebration of the university's history but also a showcase of the creativity and talent of its students. The parade, which takes place on the main campus of UP Diliman, is a multi-day event that features a variety of lanterns, floats, and performances. The lanterns, which are made of paper and decorated with various designs, are carried by students and faculty members. The floats, which are made of wood and decorated with various designs, are also carried by students and faculty members. The performances, which are held at various points along the parade route, are also a highlight of the event.

Report by Ben B. Santos

We can't place
anybody

The first time I saw a person with a prosthetic arm, I was struck by the way they moved. It wasn't just the arm, but the way they carried themselves, the way they interacted with the world. I was a young man, full of life and energy, and I was looking for a way to make a difference. I was looking for a way to help people like me, people who were struggling to find their place in the world. I was looking for a way to make a difference in the lives of others. I was looking for a way to make a difference in the world.

FPJ generosity not surprising, says daughter

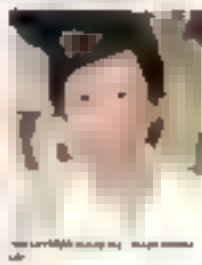

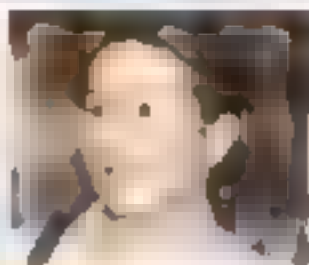

By Bernard S. Diaz

MANILA, Philippines — The generosity of Ferdinand P. Marcos Jr. (FPJ) is not surprising, says his daughter, Imelda Marcos, who is also a senator. She said her father's generosity is a result of his love for his country and his people.

"HOW COULD you say no to someone like him," says former FPJ leading lady Imelda Staunton.

How FPJ 'pursued' a pregnant leading lady

By Maribel R. Cruz

FORMER actress Imelda Staunton tried to turn down offers to do a film with Fernando Poe Jr. twice in the '70s, but the king of Philippine movies was "so persistent that I couldn't say no."

Imelda, one of the most beautiful faces in the late '60s, said FPJ used to visit her almost every day until she agreed to do the movie with him.

"He told me, 'you're the perfect actress for that role. I want you to do it and no one else.' How could you say no to someone like him?" said Imelda, in the home of her daughter, actress Marcel Lina-Pangilinan, in Quezon City.

Imelda said she did not want to do "Acedillo" in 1971 with FPJ, because she had been four months pregnant with her second child, Melvin.

"I didn't want to commit to it because I knew we would be shooting on location and that I would have to travel far," Imelda explained. "Ayaw ngung pumayag. He said having a pregnant leading lady would bring him good luck."

"Acedillo," directed by Celso Ad Castillo and now considered one of local cinema's best movies, became a box-office hit in 1971. It also brought FPJ his second best actor award from the Filipino Academy of Movie Arts and Sciences (Famas) that same year.

FPJ's first Famas best actor award was for his performance in "Mga Alibak ni Lupa."

Topless

Imelda, who played Poe's third wife in "Acedillo," continued to shoot the movie until she was in her ninth month of pregnancy.

Imelda said she did not want to be part of the other movie, "Bontoc," also with FPJ as her leading man and directed by the late Pablo Santiago, because "I didn't want to go bold."

According to Imelda, she had to shoot two "difficult" scenes in "Bontoc." One scene required her to go topless while running on a beach, while the other required her to fight off a rapist.

Imelda said she was supposed to play FPJ's mother in the movie, which she did not like. "How could I play a mother to him?" she said. "I was just 27 when we did that movie, and Ronnie [FPJ's nickname] was way older than

I. But Ronnie said I would only be part of the flashback scenes."

"I'll never forget when he told me, 'if you're an actor, you could do anything,'" Imelda said. "He and Derek Pablo did well in convincing me to do the movie." Ronnie said we would buy a long wig to cover my breast while I'm doing the scene on the beach. Derek Pablo promised that none of my private parts would be exposed during the rape scene.

No regrets

"I believed them, and the movie turned out well," she added. "I'm glad I did that movie. No regrets."

Imelda's first movie was "Gerona Batahin, Batang Qusapo" in 1964 with FPJ's best friend, former President Joseph Estrada in the title role. Estrada produced the film, written by Augusto Buenaventura and directed by Chet Gallardo, under Lux Production.

"I played my first lead role in that movie and Ronnie was our guest star," Imelda recalled.

Imelda also worked with FPJ in "Don Por Don" and "Bato ni Bohangin." They were last seen together in "Mabuting Kaibayan, Mabang Kawayan" in 1991.

"Ronnie was a very generous man," she said. "He took care of his co-stars very well. Once I asked for action de uche and he immediately sent one to the set. But he also made sure that the crew members were provided with the best food. Party-party ang treatment nga."

For eight years now, Imelda has been living in Singapore with her husband, Ben Avanceña, and her youngest child, Masha. The former actress arrived in Manila on Dec. 12, the day FPJ was rushed to the St. Luke's Medical Center in Quezon City, where the actor died on Dec. 14 just one minute after midnight.

Imelda said she received a text message from her daughter Marcel's sister-in-law, Angel Pangilinan-Valenciaano, informing her of FPJ's condition.

"Angel was asking that I pray for Ronnie's recovery," Imelda recalled. "I got nervous, but I didn't think it was that serious. I knew Ronnie to be a strong man. I thought he would eventually get better."

FPJ's neurologist, Dr. Abdias Aquino, said FPJ suffered a "severe brain attack" or stroke.

"When I heard of his death, I got depressed," Imelda added. "Ronnie was a true friend to many."

Resorts great and small

By David J. Phillips

The Florida resort industry is a vast and varied one, ranging from the grandest of hotels to the most intimate of inns. The state's resorts are a reflection of the state's diverse geography and culture, offering a wide range of experiences for visitors.

Thinking 2005

Despite their long and joyful lives, Tom, Jacki, Susan, and Susan have to say this: "We need to be better off financially." But when it comes to their retirement, they're not worried. They're confident that the money they've saved will be enough to live on for the rest of their lives. And they're not alone. Many people are feeling the same way. They're confident that the money they've saved will be enough to live on for the rest of their lives.

The new year's resolutions are coming, and many people are making resolutions to be better off financially. They're not worried. They're confident that the money they've saved will be enough to live on for the rest of their lives.

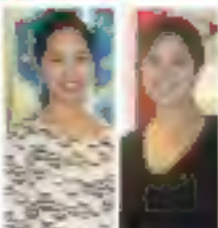

And all things considered, the money they've saved will be enough to live on for the rest of their lives. They're not worried. They're confident that the money they've saved will be enough to live on for the rest of their lives.

And all things considered, the money they've saved will be enough to live on for the rest of their lives. They're not worried. They're confident that the money they've saved will be enough to live on for the rest of their lives.

Hub of joy—and art

By the way, these young artists are not just artists.

For the past few years, the young artists of the Hub of Joy and Art have been making a name for themselves. They're not just artists. They're also students, athletes, and community members. They're the future of the arts, and they're making a difference in the world.
